MISERY, DISEASE IN WAKE OF FLOOD

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

The secret is out. A Berkeley judge who has been noted for his hard sentences given motor law violators has purchased a car. The judge admitted that it was the first motor vehicle he has ever owned. Write your own ticket.

Two robbers who picked on Police Judge E. J. Tyrell of Oakland as their victim the other night selected the wrong man. Twenty minutes after the holdup the two suspects were behind prison bars.

And if it means anything in this day and age the ex-kaiser of Germany will observe his 71st birthday tomorrow.

Members in attendance at the National real estate association convention in Phoenix, Ariz., are of the opinion that over-taxation is the cause of the alleged building slump. There is food for thought in that. Putting the government's financial expense on real estate is going to cause a crack-up sooner or later.

One of a series of accidents which may be expected on Macdonald avenue between Twenty-third street and San Pablo avenue occurred Friday night. A youth drove his car head-on into a street car approaching on the left hand side of the street. We wonder how long a motorist would be permitted to drive on the left hand side of any street in this city with headlights that blind everything coming his way. Maybe we'll live and learn, but someone is liable to die in this attempt.

One hundred per cent increase in reported in the business of the Oakland airport during the last two years. Planes continue to fly over Richmond on their way to the Oakland airport. Think it over.

"Richmond will certainly go ahead if the Chamber of Commerce campaign to have Richmond workers live here is carried out," remarked a man to us recently. "I would have been a wonderful thought if that same man didn't earn most of his money in Richmond and spend it all in Oakland and Berkeley."

It's about time that campaign was vigorously prosecuted by those who have the power to put it into effect. If all Richmond workers should live in this city, building trades would have no trouble in finding work for all of their members.

Living conditions here are as good as any if they are not, then the first step of the campaign it appears to us would be to start by making those conditions ideal. We have the climate and the rest is up to us.

AIRPORT AT CONCORD SOLD

CONCORD, Jan. 25.—Lars Olsen, local rancher, today purchased the Concord tract of 130 acres that the government leased as an airport.

Olsen bid $24,400 for the property, buying it on a sale conducted by Court Commissioner Frank Barnard.

The sale was ordered in a superior court judgment giving H. H. Elworthy, and C. J. Poskett verdict for $24,416 to satisfy notes that were secured by a mortgage. The judgment was against C. C. Chapman and L. H. Chapman, as executors of the estate of William H. Chapman and W. E. Price.

INTEND TO WED

Notice of intention to wed was filed in Oakland yesterday by Paul Villalobas, 22, of 654 First street, and Marie Auna, 22, of 842 Magnolia Street, Oakland.

CHEAP LABOR BLAMED IN BATTLES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—(U.P.)—It appeared probable tonight, in the wake of several minor race riots, that California will demand national legislation for the restriction of Filipino immigration.

Two riots occurred during the week. One was in the Salinas valley, near Watsonville, where a Filipino was shot to death. The other was at San Jose in the Santa Clara valley, where a white youth was stabbed. Dozens of combatants were injured.

Competition for the right to work between Filipinos and native whites is believed to have caused the riots. Both communities are vegetable and fruit growing districts. The Filipinos have been imported for "stoop" labor.

Planters Blamed
Paul Scharrenberg, secretary of the California State Federation of Labor, charged today that Hawaiian Sugar Planters indirectly had caused the riots, and that the disturbances were "the inevitable result of the third invasion of California by Oriental labor."

Sugar planters of Hawaii, according to Scharrenberg, import Filipinos by the thousands and the Malays leave Hawaii for the higher wages in the United States while the Hawaiians supply is renewed by fresh importations.

Referring back to the days when he led the fight for Chinese and Japanese exclusion, Scharrenberg declared that it is "necessary that this new swarming of cheap labor from across the Pacific be stopped."

Passage of a law by congress, classing Filipinos as aliens, is advocated by the veteran labor leader.

Officers On Guard

Watsonville and San Jose were quiet today, but officers in all parts of the state were watching Filipino settlements to prevent new riots. A guard was placed on all dance halls frequented by Filipinos where white girls dance with the Islanders.

Agitation against "cheap Filipino labor" has been general in California since 1920. Meanwhile, Filipinos have been arriving on the Pacific coast in ever increasing numbers. This volume of Filipino immigration is partly due to threats to curtail Mexican immigration.

SPAN APPROACH TO BE REPAIRED

The last "bottle neck" in the bay regions is doomed to destruction, following an announcement made yesterday by B. B. Meek, director of public works that the northern approach to the Carquinez bridge is to be rebuilt.

The project has met with full approval of Gov. C. C. Young and the state highway division. Meek said, it will cost $8070 to repair the 4300 foot strip. Solano county will pay $500 of the total cost.

Borings taken on the highway showed water below the surface, and this will delay start of the work for several months.

The road has been for a long time a menace to motorists. After leaving the broad highway across the bridge, the road suddenly becomes narrow and twisting. There is barely room for two cars to pass each other. Driving at night over the road is especially dangerous.

With the improvement of the highway, bay motorists will have one of the finest and fastest roads leading to the north.

A. DREW RECOVERING

Alton Drew, 613 Bissell avenue is reported as recovering satisfactorily from an operation undergone at the Merritt hospital Friday. He is an employee of the Standard Oil company here.

COMEDY OF ERRORS IN THEFT OF COAT, TOOLS

Two men are in the city jail, one charged with petty theft and the second with vagrancy, as the result of the alleged theft of an overcoat and valuable gauges here Friday night.

The arrested men are Ralph Kanepper, address unknown, who is charged with theft, and William Wideman, no address, charged with vagrancy.

The case is reported to be one of the oldest ever handled by the Richmond police department.

Friday night W. J. Shaw, 1519 High street, Alameda, a representative of a well known tool manufacturing company, came to Richmond on a business trip. He parked his car on Macdonald avenue and put his overcoat on the front seat.

Returning to his car, he found that his overcoat was gone. And in the coat pocket was a set of gauges, used in the manufacturing of Ford cars. The tools are valued at $40.

Shaw reported the theft to the Richmond police.

Yesterday while driving his car down Macdonald avenue, he saw a man who has been identified as Kanepper, wearing his overcoat he alleges. With Kanepper was Wideman.

Shaw leaped out of his car, called a policeman, and had Kanepper arrested. Wideman fled.

Taken to the police station, Kanepper denied that he had stolen the overcoat, declaring that he had purchased it from a man for one dollar. He did not know where the tools were, he insisted.

Jury Trial Asked
Taken before Police Judge C. A. Odell, he pleaded not guilty to the theft charge and demanded a jury trial. Trial date has been set for Thursday morning. Bail has been set at $250, which up to a late hour last night he was unable to furnish.

Returned to the city jail, Kanepper was given a severe grilling. He then described the man from whom he said he had purchased the overcoat.

A few minutes later, police picked up Wideman, whose description was given by Kanepper.

Accuses Other Man
Unaware that Kanepper had said that he had purchased the overcoat from him, Wideman declared that Kanepper had stolen the overcoat, police said.

Asked what he had done with the tools, Wideman at first denied that he knew anything about them. Later he admitted, police say, that he had sold the tools to a Twenty-second street garage man for 30 cents.

Wideman was locked in the city jail and will face Judge Odell on Monday morning for a hearing.

CARDINAL, U. C. CAGERS RIOT

PALO ALTO, Jan. 25.—UP—Allegedly poor vision of Referee Bill Hollender precipitated a riot on the Stanford basketball court here tonight after the University of California had defeated the Cardinal quintet 36 to 30.

The half time score was California 17, Stanford 11.

Mike Reynolds, Stanford guard, precipitated the trouble when he swung on Hollender. When the excitement was over, after a crowd of ardent fans surrounded Hollender and Umpire Tom Fitzpatrick, police escorted the officials off the floor.

Wilson Tripp, California was high point man for the game, scoring 17 counters. John McCandless starred for Stanford with 8 points.

In a preliminary game the Stanford freshmen won by the margin of a single point from their Bruin rivals, 25 to 24.

The varsity game was the first of a three game series between the ancient college rivals.

CANCER CURE SOUGHT BY MANY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—UP—The burden of greatness descended upon two unprepared San Francisco scientists today.

From a thousands voices all making the desperate plea:

"Save Me!"

They were the voices of cancer victims appealing to Dr. W. B. Coffey and Dr. John D. Hunter for help.

Found Something
These two men of medicine, indefatigable workers, told colleagues Monday that they had found something which appeared to kill cancerous tissues.

But, they protested, the scientist coming to fore. "We are not yet sure. We have worked on it for three years and had some remarkable results."

No Aid
Aid that they would gladly give. (Continued on Page 8)

JAILOR SHOTS BANDIT YOUTH

WEWOKA, Okla., Jan. 25.—UP—A youth who would like to appear as a bold and bad figure of the fading west lay on his cell cot in the county jail here tonight, nursing a wound in the hip, and disconcerted as the purport leader of a gang blamed for the assassination last fall of District Attorney John Holmes in Borger, Texas.

He is Gerald Woodworth, 20, shot down last night when he aimed a small pistol at Jailor Fred Hammer and demanded his release. Hammer discouraged Woodworth's bravado by putting a bullet into the boy's thigh.

With news of Woodworth's attempted role of a "desperado," officers revealed he had been posing for weeks as the "slayer of District Attorney Holmes."

Woodworth made a statement saying it was he who stepped from the shadows of Holmes' garage in Borger one night last fall and shot the federal attorney to death while his wife looked on.

He claimed he was hired to kill Holmes. Both local officers and Texas rangers advised of the claim, discounted it as the imagination of a misguided youth bidding for notoriety.

Victim Blamed In Train Deaths

CROCKETT, Jan. 25.—A coroner's jury today found that Andre Olmos, 25, of Torrey and Luis Arillo, 26, also of Torrey had met their deaths due to the negligence of Arillo.

The two men were killed and a third, Juan Gallo, 25, of Torrey was seriously injured when they stepped into the path of Southern Pacific train No. 56 near Crockett Thursday morning.

The jury found that Arillo's duties were to keep the men clear of the tracks and that he had failed to do so.

Coroner Aubrey Wilson conducted the inquest.

Brother, Sister Granted Divorces

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—UP—Divorce business is usually a family affair but in San Francisco it was doubly so today.

Grant P. Dubois got a divorce and his sister Mrs. Pearl D. Cook was his witness.

Then Mrs. Cook got a divorce and Dubois was her witness.

GANNA WALSKA, opera singer, whose suit to bring jewels into U. S. free of duty established that wife is on equal footing with her husband in regard to civil and property rights.

CLUES FOUND IN $20,000 S. F. ROBBERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—UP—Society folk were startled here late today when police revealed that the bandits who staged the $20,000 society holdup at the home of Mrs. Mary Campbell-Smith gained an entrance with a key.

Mrs. Smith admitted that they had a key to her apartment in the exclusive Jordan park district, where 12 women and men lost valuable jewelry in the hold-up, but could not give any clue to their identity.

A neighbor told police he believes he has seen the men at the Smith home prior to the robbery. He claimed to see them in the hall.

Walking into the apartment of Mrs. Smith, just like invited guests, the bandits forced the guests and hostess to lie upon the floor.

Money Taken
Stripping the women of their necklaces and rings and the men of their watches and cash the pair herded them all into a drawing room.

There the larger of the pair bound and gagged the eight women and three men with pieces of sheet and heavy tape. When one or two of the younger women protested, the leader said, "Keep quiet and make it snappy."

After tying them securely the bandits carried them men and (Continued on Page 8)

DRIVER HELD IN CAR CRASH

W. D. Murphy, 2723 Downer avenue is in the city jail awaiting hearing on a charge of drunken driving as the result of an automobile accident at Twenty-third street and Barbieri avenue.

Murphy's car, police reported, struck a car driven by Charles McGrady of San Francisco. Mrs. McGrady was slightly injured in the crash. McGrady and Murphy were uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Mero of Mira Vista are the proud parents of a daughter born at the Peralta hospital yesterday. Both mother and daughter are reported to be doing nicely.

TOT WINS IN DOG POISON FIGHT

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 25.—(U.P.)—While a city tonight offered prayers for his recovery, a white faced little baby lay in a tiny hospital cot desperately ill—the victim of a dog poisoner.

And praying, the city determined to get the fiend who put out the poison which killed a little dog, Phillips Freeman, Jr., 13-months old son of a Spokane preacher. Rewards were offered. The police took up a systematic search of the poison records of every drug store in the city. The humane society moved into the case, and every crime-detecting facility of the city was thrown into the fight.

The little dog's love for his tiny master and playmate was what spelled illness and perhaps death for the child.

Wanted Aid
Having eaten a strychnine-baited piece of meat; perplexed, agonized, terrified by the pains which attacked his system so quickly, the little dog ran to the house and crawled to the baby. Its pain increased. It wanted aid, but most of all it wanted sympathy. It wanted to know why his hind legs would not function and its heart pounded so quickly.

The dog lay beside little Mark and peered at the baby with appealing brown eyes. The baby laughed and patted his pet; put (Continued on Page 8)

"POISON GIN" SUSPECT HELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—(U.P.)—Deaths from "wood alcohol gin" rose to four in San Francisco today as a man wanted by police federal authorities for violation of the national prohibition act surrendered to U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Fisk.

Believed to be the bootlegger whose "poison gin" was responsible for the deaths last week of an army flier and a young married woman here, Chris Caruso, is held on federal charges.

Police intimated later in the day that they would probably file manslaughter charges against Caruso as the man who sold poison gin to Sgt. John W. Yates and Mrs. Lauretta Watson. Both died the day after drinking some gin alleged to have been bought from Caruso.

Two men died today in the county jail of acute alcoholism and police believe they had been imbibing gin made of denatured alcohol. The men who died in jail are Christopher Chase, 58, no address, serving a 90-day sentence for vagrancy and Ross Withrow, 60, just received on a 10-day vagrancy sentence.

Sheriff William J. Fitzgerald declared emphatically that he was convinced the men could not have obtained the liquor in jail.

Martinez Plans New Lodge Hall

MARTINEZ, Jan. 25.—A formal call for bids for construction of a two-story lodge hall to be located on a site 50 by 100 feet here, was today issued by the Martinez Masonic lodge. The structure will be built and furnished at an estimated cost of $40,000.

Segregated in nature, bids will be filed with R. G. deLappe, Oakland architect, by Feb. 15, it was announced.

Joseph Canepa Sent To Jail

Pleading guilty to a misdemeanor charge, Joseph Canepa, 59, of 209 South Seventeenth street, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail by Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday morning.

Canepa was arrested here several days ago.

U. S. URGES SECRECY AT NAVY MEET IN LONDON

LONDON, Jan. 25.—UP—The five power naval conference of 1930 closed its first week today with the delegates still sparring for an opening and no decision reached yet on what problem to tackle first or how to tackle it.

"If you held four aces, wouldn't you let the others bet first?" asked one influential member of the American group.

The analogy to a poker game is quite apt. The week end halt in proceedings found the delegates still cautiously feeling each other out and the Americans pressing diplomatically for a settlement of the cruise problem first.

Secrecy Urged
It has been a baffling opening of a naval conference as far as it concerns the public, which has been left almost in the dark. No nation, has yet risked committing itself definitely on anything controversial. The Americans have been urging that all actual work be done in secret for the present to prevent any delegations from having to take too stiff a stand to save its face, as might be necessary if too much disclosure is made now.

The Americans have made no proposals, excepting those affecting procedure and all delegates are treading cautiously. One American delegate urged this correspondent not even to speculate on the American attitude toward Japan's claim for a 70 per cent ration against Great Britain and the United States, fearing that the situation might be stirred up.

The American delegates took the attitude toward the press that the less said now about the United States position the better, feeling it would be unwise to have public opinion at home lined up behind any specific proposal.

U. S. Silent

BANK BANDITS IDENTIFIED

SAN RAFAEL, Jan. 25.—UP—Bandits who are the object of a search through three northern California counties today are believed to be Jack Chambers and Louis Warden or Waldon, who stole an automobile in Lovelock, Nev., last September.

The bandits held up and robbed a Fairfax bank of $2000 in currency Thursday. They escaped into the Marin county hills in a brown coupe.

Sheriffs officers at Lovelock have wired Marin county authorities that the coupe is one that was stolen from Miss Doobles Unter in Lovelock during September. Miss Unter now lives in San Francisco at 114 Eleventh street.

Efforts of deputies and San Quentin prison bomb squads to dislodge one of the bandits from a lean-to on the D. Grossi ranch early today were unavailing.

The bandit was seen to enter the lean-to but not escaped before the officers had the place surrounded. The search was still going on tonight.

One Injured In Car-Cycle Crash

Peter E. Herman, 1331 E'm street, El Cerrito, was treated by Dr. H. L. Carpenter last night for cuts and bruises suffered in an automobile-motorcycle accident in El Cerrito last night. He was later sent home.

Police reported that Herman's motorcycle came in collision with a car driven by Lewis Regalia, 1134 Liberty street, El Cerrito. Regalia was backing out of his driveway when the accident occurred.

GRIM DRAMA ENACTED IN MIDWEST

By UNITED PRESS
Grim drama, touched often with the pathos of suffering and lightened with an occasional comic bit, was enacted throughout the flood regions of southern Illinois and Indiana and the mid-south today.

Heroism of the air played a large part in carrying relief to scores of families, marooned in isolated regions without food, fuel or sufficient clothing. Airplanes soared over hundreds of miles of watery, ice flacked wastes, dropping bundles of blankets, food, clothing and medical supplies to groups of shivering refugees.

An airplane base was established at Evansville, Ind., near the center of the flood regions. Three planes operated out of Vincennes.

20 Trapped
Twenty persons, trapped on Cull-Off Island in the racing Wabash river near New Harmony, Ind., were reported in desperate plight. Most of them had been there without fuel or sufficient food for a week. Attempts to get food to the island were renewed today.

Rescue parties dragged sleds loaded with supplies over the treacherous southern Indiana ice fields to isolated communities, while a fleet of small motor boats battled the ice in St. Francis river valley in Arkansas to reach refugees.

Life Loss Unknown
Depots were established by the Red Cross and by state and city authorities at many places in the flood wracked territory. Spread of smallpox, pneumonia and other scourges which threatened to become epidemic was believed curbed.

How many lives have been lost as a result of the flood and the bitter cold that came afterward could only be guessed at today.

Communication with the regions that suffered most had been practically cut off for more than ten days. At least five persons had been drowned and four frozen to death.

COURT DENIES FREE LODGING

Jail cells, by popular opinion, are cold, damp places where one never goes unless one has to. But to Lloyd Brown, jail is home, sweet home, where he can get his "three squares" a day.

Brown was one of the five alleged hoboes who were picked up by Richmond police Friday night at a vacant house in Stege. The five pleaded guilty to charges of vagrancy when they appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday morning.

Suspended sentences of 30 days were given to the quintet with the understanding that if they did not leave town they would be locked up.

Brown pleaded with the judge to lock him up, declaring that he hasn't a home and can't get any work.

But Judge Odell refused to send him to jail.

Have You Mental Parrot Fever?

HEADLINES are full of that strange, rare, newly advertised ailment, "parrot fever." With its headache, backache, chills, fever and cough, presumably contracted from poor Polly on her perch—poor Polly.

Who is worrying her erstwhile affectionate owners to death just now, Although the New York Health Department and other wise medical authorities are discounting public alarm by pointing out that only the parrots recently imported by one man.

Are suspected of suffering from psittacosis. And are therefore capable of giving the contagion to human beings. It seems to be a fact, despite the alarmists, that you won't catch parrot fever from your old family pet. If you were ministering to his cracker-wants before the first of last November.

The date when the infected parrots are supposed to have entered the country. So don't be cruel, and turn your poor old Polly loose in Central Park.

To die of exposure, starvation and persecution by other birds. Despite the excitement, there are comparatively few actual cases hereabouts in which the diagnosis of what may be called the physical disease of parrot fever is admitted without dispute.

Far be it from us to appear frivolous over the pathological aspect of the subject. Simply, the parroting of the phrase has set us thinking.

Of how many cases there are of what may be called mental parrot fever. It is altogether too prevalent among women.

Although men are by no means immune! One common case of the woman suffering from mental parrot fever.

Is she who begins and ends every discussion with "My husband says"—If another woman asks her, at a luncheon, what she thinks of long skirts. She answers, automatically, "My husband says he thinks it's high time women went back to looking like women!"

Over the tea-table she regales every caller With long, infinitely detailed repetitions of what "my husband says" About going South, securing the children to private school, making money in the market.

Of course, it's perfectly all right to believe some (if not all) of the things your husband says. And to quote him on some (though not ALL) occasions.

But the most devoted wife, unless she is a victim of mental parrot fever, will have ideas of her own, and her own ways of expressing them.

And even will be an infinitely more entertaining person, by being herself. Than by acting as a human carbon copy of her husband's conversation!

However, mental parrot fever attacks other women besides the much-married ones. We've known girls in offices who suffered from it.

We are thinking of the type of hero-worshipping private secretary. Who inscribes, on the tablets of her memory. Her employer's most casual comments, his weakest wisecracks.

And who then bores every girl whom she can buttonhole. By repeating, word for word, all the things that "Mr. Howard says."

As if anybody, outside Mr. Howard's small ring of devoted dependents, cared! Another, too frequently encountered victim of mental parrot fever.

Is the woman who runs her life. On the "everybody says so—everybody's doing it" basis. Certainly, it is wise to conform to a certain extent with common and customary ways.

But why forever follow the crowd? Why not be original once in a while? Men, as we said, are afflicted, as well as women, with mental psittacosis.

If you ask a man where the long skirt evidently is not worn! He'll often parrot the editorial in his favorite paper. When he votes a ticket because his father voted it.

He's touched with the thoughtless imitativeness of mental parrot fever. And it's been chronic with generations of men who have repeated, over and over.

All the stale, superficial, untrue generalizations about women! What's the cure? Sometimes we wonder if there is any! But this we do think: Intelligence immunizes against mental psittacosis!

Modernizing the Home

By Alma Zais

VERY OFTEN, IN THE SMALL DINING ROOM, DIGNITY MAY BE SUGGESTED BY THE ACCESSORIES. IN SPITE OF RESTRICTED SPACE, BEAUTIFUL OLD CHINA AND STERLING ARE ALWAYS IMPRESSIVE.

My dear Editor: I am enclosing plan of two dining rooms which I am about to furnish completely, but am encountering much difficulty in planning the floors.

If you will notice there is very little wall space. Can you suggest what furniture to buy for both rooms? Thanking you for any information you will send. MRS. V. P.

Modernization through a scheme which, although based upon the three points of clear color, simplicity and trimness, makes use of reproductions and a rather classic theme.

No colors have been stated for the walls and woodwork, so we shall assume they are the popular shade of deep, warm beige. The best treatment for the two floors would be all-over carpeting, which, when seen through the French doors, gives the effect of one long room.

Instead of the characterless taupe so generally used we suggest a lovely dull garnet color that is very rich and soft. Mrs. P. asks if she may use linoleum in the dining room. If the room were to be considered alone, a very crisp and delightful scheme could be planned around such a color.

But since the rooms are so closely connected, and the view is directly through from the moment one enters the front door, it is best to forego this treatment in favor of a plan that merges the two floors.

Our recommendations also make use of the same drapery fabric for both rooms. A hand-blocked linen having a beige ground and a floral pattern combining garnet and purple tones with much blue-green.

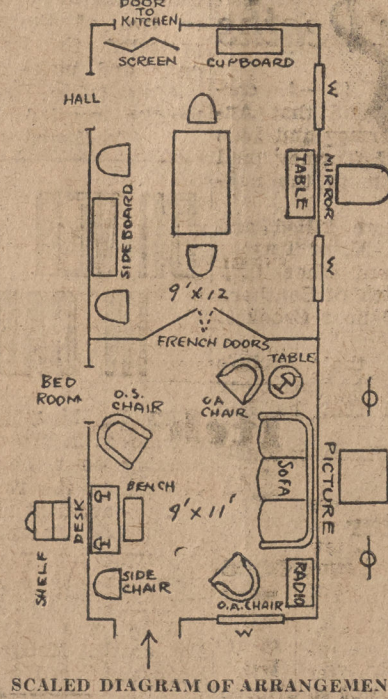

A tall and very shallow china cabinet placed at the end of the room would balance the door to the kitchen and seem a rather impressive table. If there is a sideboard, it should be a very shallow one of the Sheraton or Duncan Phyfe type, and this suggestion also applies to the serving table.

Repeating Draperies and Carpeting Unifies the Two Rooms

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

HOW fortunate it is that Mrs. P. has sought advice before purchasing furniture for these two very small rooms. Such limitations necessarily present a difficult problem—not alone as to the correct treatment for floors, but in the matter of choosing furniture of proper proportions.

It is of the utmost importance to have furniture in scale, for one or two clumsy, oversized pieces can mar beyond redemption the most carefully planned scheme. When shopping—where one is surrounded by furniture displayed in mammoth storerooms with tall windows that dwarf even the larger pieces—to lose one's sense of size and proportion is the common experience.

How to Suggest Space and Importance in Small Adjoining Rooms of the hand-blocked linen used at the windows, to bring its colors and pattern over to the opposite side of the room, and the best seat could be covered with old green leather.

A lovely picture in feeling with the room should be above the sofa, or a deep-seated chair there would lead the eye back to the window. On the hanging shelves, bits of Staffordshire or Dresden and a piece or two of colored glass on the hanging shelf would nicely vary the collection of books. A pair of small lamps with soft gold shades bound in the three shades of garnet, green and gold may be used on the desk, the tip-top table will accommodate another pretty lamp.

Furnishings for the Dining Room While the exact floor plan of the dining room problem is not perfectly represented in the illustration, it is sufficiently similar to give Mrs. P. a good working idea of our scheme. The picture shows pieces which would be appropriate for the small room, and complementary to those suggested for the living room.

Men who work around their cars are apt to get grease on their shirt sleeves, and sometimes this reaches the table linen. Rub butter on the sleeves and let them soak in cold water fifteen minutes, wash out with soap and the stain will disappear.

Before measuring the molasses dip the measuring utensil into hot water to facilitate the process.

(None other than J. Herman Seidlitz is covering the London Naval Conference for you. Mr. Seidlitz needs no letter of introduction to the public as a naval authority. He was an Admiral in charge of the swan boats when the British tried to seize the frog pond on Boston Common. He was the first naval expert to shoot puffed rice out of 16-inch guns and he was on the bridge when Milton C. Work captured Fort Arthur with three no-trumps. In addition to this comprehensive background, J. Herman Seidlitz was for eighteen years attached to the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., as an observer at Bailey's Beach. Each day this outstanding authority interprets the progress of the London Conference and cables a despatch to this paper. His second article appears below and the series is only starting. INTERPRETING THE NAVAL CONFERENCE

By J. Herman Seidlitz

LONDON, Jan. 17 (Delayed by fog)—The American delegation has arrived with 190 gallons of tall silk hats. Mr. Shearer is not with the naval experts, but I understand they have put a call in for Arthur (The Grate-on-your-nerves) Shires to take his place. The Yankee delegates sure miss the Big Bass Drum, but to make matters even the British have sent the Prince of Wales, who is a snare drummer, to the African jungles.

Our delegation will put in a claim that America will need fourteen new fast cruisers by 1931 just to take the Notre Dame football team around on its schedule. Unless this demand is granted, America will have to cancel his 1931 games with the University of Egypt at Cairo, Buenos Ayres Business College in the Argentine and the Nippon Barber's Institute at Yokohama.

That will only leave the boys with a domestic schedule of games at New York, Los Angeles, Tulsa and Butte, Mont., which is practically the same as solitary confinement. In addition to these fast cruisers, the United States for 1931 will need 4,750,000 tons and 67 pounds of destroyers just to plug up the rum runners from Calais, Me., to Norfolk.

The British are willing to count our Fall River liners and the Albany night boats as first class battleships and they ask permission to build twenty-seven super-dreadnoughts to offset this advantage. England is also willing to concede an extra smokstack to every battleship. Dawes travels on, provided he

The secret of a mellow mysteriously seasoned tomato sauce is to be found in the bag of tricks of the Italian housewife. To repeated requests for the recipe of perfect tomato sauce the answer is, with one exception, a trifle vague: long cooking to sweeten the tomato or to reduce the sharpness of the tomato.

Spaghetti with one cup dried ones. One pound fresh cooked green peas. One bowl grated Parmesan cheese. Cooking time of sauce: One to two hours at a simmer.

Servings—four. Mince the onion and celery tops or stalks. Lots of these are advisable. Heat the butter or oil in a large saucepan and turn in the minced vegetables; cook five minutes, gently, and add the pepper, then a little at a time the paste from the can. This must be worked into the butter-vegetables.

Have a quantity of water boiling in a large saucepan, salted in proportion of a teaspoon to a quart of water. Plunge the spaghetti in and let cook vigorously until tender—twenty to thirty minutes. Drain and make sure no water spoils the sauce. Dish upon a hot platter; pour over the nice tomato sauce, then the buttered (and well drained) peas and last the sauteed mushrooms. Pass grated Parmesan cheese.

TOMATO SAUCE. One fourth cup butter or oil. Two medium onions, minced. Handful celery leaves or outer stalks. Bit of bayleaf. One fourth teaspoon black pepper. One imported tomato paste. One large can tomatoes. One teaspoon salt. One tablespoon brown sugar. One pound spaghetti. One pound fresh mushrooms or

NEW DE SOTO STRAIGHT EIGHT SHOWN TO LOCAL MOTORISTS

The De Soto straight eight, an entirely new and sensationally priced car, is being shown to local motorists for the first time at the current New York automobile show as a companion car to the phenomenally successful De Soto six which established a record for first year sales has been placed on display here by A. P. Weisgerber, Thirteenth street and Macdonald avenue.

This straight eight is described as the "mysterious eight" which for the past few months has been playing tag around the mountains near Ligonier Pa., accompanied by other eight-cylinder cars of larger type, yet out-performing them in every way. The identity of the "mysterious car" as the new De Soto straight eight, put to rest the speculation which has been prevalent in the industry for many weeks past.

The present De Soto six virtually unchanged will be continued in the line and, together with the straight eight, will be offered by De Soto dealers this year.

New Motor
Designed and developed in the Chrysler Motors engineering department, under the direction of Fred M. Zeder, vice president in charge of engineering of the Chrysler corporation, this all-new De Soto straight eight with its many distinctive features has been put into production.

The new straight eight motor has an N. A. C. C. horsepower rating of 26.45 and develops 72 horsepower. The engine has rubber insulated suspension; full force feed lubrication; drilled oil passages and the same steel-strut light alloy type pistons that have proved so successful in Chrysler-built cars for the past several years. The crankshaft is mounted in five main bearings, is statically and dynamically balanced and is equipped with an impulse neutralizer, insuring smooth operation.

The remarkable power of the new De Soto straight eight engine is accounted for by the incorporation of these and many other high grade, carefully engineered and proven features.

Fuel Pump
One of the most sensational features of this new engine is down-draft carburetion. The down draft carburetor is of the plain tube type and is equipped with automatic acceleration pump, air-cleaner, fuel-filter and manifold heat control. Fuel is supplied to the carburetor by a camshaft-driven fuel pump.

The transmission is of the three

De Soto Scores Again

Tourists Average 234 Miles Per Day

Two hundred and thirty-four miles constitutes the average day's drive of motor tourists now as compared with about 100 miles ten years ago, according to the California State Automobile association. The average mileage of motorists is estimated at 11,000 miles a year.

MOTOR VEHICLE PROGRESS NOTED

California's progress in motor vehicle legislation and public safety activities has been signally honored in the appointment by Secretary of Commerce R. P. LaMont of a representative of the California State Automobile association as a member of the Uniform Traffic Regulations committee of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary of the motorists' organization, was named to the committee which will make an exhaustive study of the progress of motor vehicle legislation in cities and states throughout the United States.

The Uniform Traffic Regulations committee, according to official announcement from the Department of Commerce, will make recommendations for the guidance of future municipal and state traffic regulation after considering the experiences of states and cities with the uniform vehicle code, the model municipal traffic ordinance and standardization of traffic signs, signals and markings.

California's program along these lines is notable. It is one of the few states in the Union which has incorporated in its motor vehicle code all provisions of the uniform state code recommended by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. The California Vehicle Act is considered a model for the nation and, in fact, many of the provisions of the California code were drafted into the uniform state code when the latter was framed.

In the matter of uniformity of municipal traffic regulations, California has also set an example for other states. Ninety-five municipalities in the state, including all the larger cities, now have in effect a standard code of regulations as embodied in the uniform traffic ordinance for California cities. This measure was drafted and sponsored by the California State Automobile association.

William E. Metzger of Detroit is chairman of the Uniform Traffic Regulations Committee which met in Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.

Car Owners Should Listen To Engine

A service expert offers the suggestion that car owners take time out now and then just to listen to the car, remarks L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club. He points out that ordinarily the motorist hears a loud noise to the exclusion of smaller but more tell-tale ones.

YOSEMITE HAS COMFORT IN WINTER

All the summer comforts of camping in the free National Park Service camping grounds, have been embodied in the new winter camp grounds, located on the north side of Yosemite valley, reports the touring department of the National Automobile club.

The new winter camping area is located only a short distance west of Yosemite lodge, in the sunshine belt of the valley. Here, the campers will receive a maximum amount of sunlight and after frolicking in the snow on the south side of Yosemite valley, can return to the warmer ground area.

At the opening of the new winter camp ground today, Superintendent C. G. Thompson said: "Winter visitors who desire to brave the rigors of camp life in winter, I am certain will find this new area far more attractive than any of the National Park Service has heretofore been able to provide in Yosemite valley. It is not too far away from the toboggan slides and ice skating rink and only a short distance from the Yosemite lodge cafeteria where the winter sport visitors can purchase their meals, in the event they do not care to cook on the camp stoves provided by the government. New electrically heated comfort stations with modern fixtures, including hot and cold water, have been erected at this winter camp to give the visitor all the convenience possible."

With an increase of 23 percent in travel since October 1, over the same period last year, park authorities are expecting a record breaking attendance to Yosemite this winter.

Delaware, with only 298 miles of roads, has less mileage of highways than any other state, according to the California State Automobile association.

Historic Spot Of California

One of California's most historic spots is located on Lankershim boulevard, Los Angeles county, just opposite the Universal Moving Picture Studios, remarks the touring department of the National Automobile club. Here on January 12, 1917, the treaty was signed that ended Mexico's resistance and gave California to the United States. It is marked by the Pico-Fremont Memorial at Campo de Cahuenga. Here in a priceless collection is a photographic copy of the treaty of Cahuenga written on both sides of ordinary letter paper, the Spanish and setting forth the capitulation terms agreed upon by Lieutenant Colonel John G. Fremont and Andres Pico, commander in chief of the remaining California forces and a persistent revolutionist who earlier had defeated General Kearney at San Pasqual.

Tension Wires Need Inspection

An occasional inspection should be made of the high tension wires leading from the distributor, says L. G. Evans, general service manager, National Automobile club. The current passing through these wires is of very high voltage, and it requires but a small break in the insulation to cause the electrical impulse to fall in reaching the plugs.

Spark Plug Gap Strains Ignition

Though the engine of your car may fire regularly with a wide gap between spark plug points, such a gap puts an additional strain on the ignition system, according to the California State Automobile association. For the average car, gap should be .025 or width of a thin dime.

NASH 8 WINS PRAISE OF PUBLIC

"Never before has such an array of features been offered on a car in the medium price range as that to be found on the 1930 Nash '400' twin-ignition 'six' according to Roy K. Dorr, local Nash distributor. Eleventh street and Bissell avenue, "and as a result, performance and comfort are brought to a level found elsewhere only in the most expensive motor car creations."

"Greater power even than that of last year's advanced six is built into the twin-ignition six for this year, as a result of further refinements in the famous Nash twin-ignition high compression, valve-in-head and seven-bearing engine."

"Carburetion is refined; the weight of reciprocating parts is reduced; new tubular type push rods provide less weight, more strength and quiet operation. A highly developed fuel pump and new low-speed carburetor jet keep the gas supply at a steady efficiency peak and prevent motor starvation under heavy loads."

"Absolute motor temperature control is assured through automatic operation of handsome new built-in radiator shutters on the enlarged radiator. The new four-blade fan is mounted on roller bearings and is self-oiling. The water pump is featured by a floating type pump shaft. "Aluminum alloy pistons with improved Invar steel struts add to twin-ignition six power and economy. A new torsional vibration damper and hollowed crankpins bring supreme efficiency to the famous Nash seven bearing crankshaft, which is inherently balanced."

PERFORMANCE OF 'MYSTERY EIGHT' ASTONISHING

THIS IS THE NEW STRAIGHT 8 THAT STARTLED THE INDUSTRY

PRICED UNDER $1000

Weeks ago, leading newspapers were informed of a mysterious new eight-cylinder car which was performing incredible feats in the steep mountains of Pennsylvania.

Out of curiosity, and sensing a news story, automobile editors hurried to the mountains to investigate. There they saw feats of performance that set them to writing columns of praise about a new car whose very name was still a secret.

Now is revealed the name of that mysterious car—the car they proclaimed a sensation. It is the new Chrysler-built De Soto Straight Eight—priced at less than $1000.

"Another chapter in the history of the automobile industry..." "Never such excellent performance by an automobile in its price class..." "Of an entirely different style..." "The only car that stood up with it was one that sold for approximately $1500 more..." These are typical quotations from what the prominent automobile editors have been writing under their own signatures.

On the basis of overwhelming dollar value, the new De Soto Straight Eight is as outstanding in the eight-cylinder field as its famous companion car, the De Soto Six, is outstanding in the field of sixes. Every comparison verifies this fact.

AUTO CRASHES REPORTED ON INCREASE

The accident fatality rate for the last ten years would be twenty percent lower were it not for the extremely high fatality rate accorded to automobile accidents, states the National Automobile club in reporting on the eighteenth annual meeting of the Safety Congress.

At the opening of this congress, Henry A. Reninger, president of the National Safety Council issued the prediction that ultimately hazards will not be tolerated in industry, and that there can be no rest until mishaps on the highways and everywhere else, are brought under control.

Safety work in our industrial plants has advanced to a marked degree. A few years ago it was considerable of a task to bring employers to the realization that accidents are avoidable, and that it required but cooperation upon their part, and an educational campaign among employees, to reduce out industrial fatalities to a minimum. Having succeeded in that angle of the work, the main issue of this year's safety program is the elimination of automobile accidents insofar as carelessness and improper methods of control are concerned.

Automobile accidents during the last year far exceeded the total of industrial accidents, or those from other sources. It is necessary that drastic measures be undertaken to force upon the motoring public of this country the realization that their utmost cooperation is necessary in the elimination of the motor-accident evil. Safer highways, uniform traffic laws, nationwide driver's license laws, strict law enforcement, the elimination of unfit and reckless drivers, the establishment of community safety councils throughout the country, and recognition by all motorists, of the rights of others, based on the Golden Rule, have been given as the means to the end—the elimination of one of the greatest UNNECESSARY EVILS of modern times—automobile accidents.

Carbon, Hydrogen Comprise Gasoline

Motorists use approximately 14,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline yearly but, just the same, a majority do not know the elements of which it is composed. The elements of gasoline are carbon and hydrogen; about four-fifths of the former, one-fifth of the latter remarks L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club.

New Road Opens Beauty Spot For Sunday Drivers

Some 50 miles of virgin sea-side scenery, almost unchanged since the days of the Spanish regime in California, have been added to the attractions of motor travel along the coast route between San Francisco and Los Angeles with the opening of the new section of state highway beside the sea from Oxnard to Santa Monica. The Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile association advises motorists southbound on the main coast highway U. S. 101 that this new alternate route via the seashore may be reached from Ventura by way of Oxnard and thence to Point Magu.

From Point Magu south along the shore to the Los Angeles beaches, this excellent new section of highway skirts gigantic cliffs, dips down to the sea, then up again over foothills, circles small bays and rugged points, and is flanked by the pounding white-capped surf on a shore lined with great, jagged rocks, or smooth strands of beach. Yet the scene is ever-changing and always interesting. The panorama of miles of the rolling coastal hills and vales along the sea practically untouched by civilization's hand is fascinating to the motoring sightseer.

The new section of road stretches for 57 miles from Oxnard to Santa Monica offering a new diverting route to the Los Angeles area, the fourth alternate route available south from Ventura. It constitutes a direct route to the Los Angeles beaches for those who wish to reach this objective without driving through the heart of the metropolitan area. Completion of this section makes available a continuous drive from Oxnard north of Santa Barbara to San Diego in sight of the sea practically the entire distance. It also closes a gap that provides a direct route for motorists southbound to San Diego.

Winter Trip To Petrified Forest

The touring department of the National Automobile club suggests the following trip to Petrified Forest, located 139 miles distant from Los Angeles. Pavement leads through San Fernando, Saugus and Mint Canyon to Mojave and from this point a good oiled gravel road is followed to the mouth of Red Rock canyon. Here the road leading to the right and marked "Petrified Forest" is taken. It is a fair desert road and is followed for a distance of three miles. Here another marker indicates that the road leading to the left, over rolling hills into Last Chance canyon is the one to be followed. The road leads for a distance of five miles thru this canyon which is honey-combed with mining tunnels many of which have been converted into miners' homes. It is an odd sight to see doors attached to the openings of these tunnels. The road consists of good gravel one-way, but with numerous turnouts. The sheer walls of this canyon are of multicolored rock which vie in beauty with the similar coloring of Red Rock canyon. Buried for countless ages by limestone, the petrified remains of an ancient forest have just been brought to view within the last four years by man's pick and shovel. Specimens of petrified palms, cottonwoods, mahogany, oak and sycamore are to be seen. A guide is available at the forest and a charge of 50 cents per person is made for viewing these glimpses back into another age.

Chauffer's Fee For 1930 Cut

Although for most persons license renewal time for motor vehicles means merely the routine of handing over $3 to the state, chauffeurs will be more cheerful as they will receive a 100 percent reduction in the cost of their licenses under the new motor vehicle law, according to the California State Automobile association.

The former annual fee for a chauffeur's license was $2 and that is now $1. In addition to this, there are new definitions of chauffeur in the act that will relieve from 40,000 to 50,000 persons of the payment of any fee whatever.

Car Industries Employ Many

There are 3,956,138 people now directly employed in the automobile industry, according to the California State Automobile association.

Exhaust Smoke Shows Troubles

Black smoke from the exhaust of your car indicates too rich a mixture and the remedy is adjustment of the carburetor, according to the Free Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile association. White or blue smoke indicates an excess of oil in the crankcase or worn rings, while grey smoke indicates too much oil as well as fuel.

Work Started On New Speed Car

Work is progressing on the construction of a 4000 horsepower automobile to be used in an attempt to break the speed record of 231 miles per hour established by Major Seagrave early this year. The new car, reports the National Automobile club, is being built at the Sunbeam factory in England, and will be ready for trials at Daytona during March, 1930.

Coast States To Profit By Plan

Pacific coast states could secure nearly double the present amount received from the government each year for assistance in construction of federal-aid highways, under the proposal of organized motorists for Congress to increase the total appropriation from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000, according to the California State Automobile association which has taken an active part in the campaign for more funds.

The aggregate allotment for Washington, Oregon and California under the appropriation for the fiscal year ending next June 1, is $4,836,323, to which would be added in the future, if the increase is allowed, $3,224,710 or a grand total of $8,061,533 the association points out.

Europe Boasts Uniform Signals

Motor travel on European highways is being facilitated as the result of the adoption of uniform road signals instead of lettered signs, according to the California State Automobile association.

Screwdriver Test Now Out Of Date

The screwdriver test for spark plugs seems to be passing out, says L. G. Evans, general service manager, National Automobile club. The simpler connection now in use permits the wire to be slipped from the plug and held about an eighth of an inch from the terminal.

Radiator Repairs Need Expert Touch

The repair of a motor-car radiator is something which the average motorist should never attempt, states L. G. Evans, general service manager, National Automobile club. Radiator soldering requires an expert touch acquired only after experience; for this reason, such jobs should be passed on to the hands of a specialist.

Remedy Told For Auto Spark Knock

When a "spark knock" develops in your car, the more the spark is advanced the more pronounced the knock will be. If timing is correct, valves should be ground and carbon removed, according to the California State Automobile association.

Auto Products New Lead Manufacturers

Automotive products now lead in the export market for manufacturing, according to the California State Automobile association.

Judicious Care Of Car Essential

The common impression that detailed care of the car does not warrant the necessary time for the reason that dealers fail to appraise the car for its trade-in value is a poor argument on two scores, warns L. G. Evans, general service manager, National Automobile club. In the first place, automobile dealers do consider the apparent condition of the car offered as a trade-in, and in the second place it is ridiculous to operate an inefficient car when a little judicious care will place it in ship-shape condition.

Pupils Receive Safety Lessons

More than two and one-half million children, about one-tenth of those attending the public schools of the nation, are now receiving lessons in traffic safety through the cooperation of affiliated American Automobile association clubs.

California has set an example for other states in the matter of safety education in the schools. Monthly traffic safety poster lessons are prepared and distributed by the Public Safety department of the California State Automobile association to 12,500 school classrooms and an army of 5000 older school boys is enlisted in the School Traffic Reserves sponsored by the State Automobile association.

RACING CAR HAS GOOD RECORD

The racing car with which Louis Meyer won the national official speedway championship for 1929 has won prize money totaling $150,000 in four years and at the same time has established a record for speedway safety, according to information supplied the California State Automobile association by the Contest Board of the American Automobile association. The car is the racer which carried the late Frank Lockhart to runner up position in the 1926 and 1927 battles for the A. A. A. championship. On Lockhart's death at Daytona Beach in 1928, Meyer purchased the car and drove it to victory in 1928 and 1929.

In 1926 Lockhart drove it to win the Indianapolis classic. In rapid succession he finished first at Detroit, won two races at Charlotte and others at Detroit, Altoona and Fresno.

In 1927 he set the world's class "V" racing record for 91 1-2 cubic inch cars at 154 miles per hour on the California Dry Lake. This record still stands. A month later he set a speedway qualifying record at Atlantic City of 147.92 m. p. h. and a five-mile and ten-mile racing record of 133.56 and 135.57 m. p. h. respectively all of which still stand. He led Indianapolis through the 300th mile and cleaned up $11,000 in lap prizes. He was first that year at Detroit, second at Salem, first successively at Kalamazoo, Toledo, Altoona, Syracuse, Charlotte, Cleveland and closed the year with first in two events at Salem.

In 1928 Louis Meyer, who had won Indianapolis then bought it, he placed second at Salem and first at Altoona, in a year of but five major events. This year he followed by placing second at Indianapolis, second at Detroit ten days later and finished by winning both races at Altoona.

Out of the last six 200-mile races at Altoona this car placed this year.

Rainy Weather Warnings Given

Street users, both motorists and pedestrians, can largely prevent the annual increase of traffic accidents during the winter rainy season by always bearing in mind that "wet pavements are treacherous," points out the public safety department of the California State Automobile association.

Motorists should beware of a false sense of security from the fact that cars now have such safety features as four-wheel brakes and balloon tires. Brakes are still the greatest safety feature. Driving which brings no mishap is that which recognizes that a street surface of low frictional value necessitates a longer stopping distance.

Pedestrians should realize the limitations of the motorist on wet or oily pavements. Selfishness of walkers has caused many serious mishaps. Jaywalking during wet weather may force several drivers to apply brakes with dangerous haste and cause hazardous skids and crashes which often result in injuries and in deaths.

During the approaching holiday season both motorists and pedestrians more than ever will be in a hurry to get to their destinations. But haste and the saving of a few minutes' time are not worth loss of life or limb or even the expenses of repair from minor crashes, points out the motorists' organization.

Don't drive your car longer than absolutely necessary with a pronounced miss in the motor, advises the California State Automobile association. Unbalanced running causes a severe strain on moving parts.

first five times—the last four times consecutively.

In 1927 Lockhart set a new qualifying record for flat mile dirt tracks of 38.94 seconds and in the following race put up new records for every standard distance from one to 100 miles. Two years have elapsed and but one of these records has been broken—Wilbur Shaw improving the one hundred mile time at Syracuse and grades.

CHEVROLET SIX PRICE DROP PRAISED

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 25.—Announcement recently of substantial reduced prices on the new 1930 Chevrolet six, at the same time that the embodying many distinct improvements made in automotive circles here.

"Reductions as announced by W. S. Knudson, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, range from $25 to $50 on seven of the 12 models in the 1930 line, while three new body types introduced for the first time this year are priced to parallel the new low figure on models retained in the current series. The present price of $495 brings the six cylinder Chevrolet to within $5 of the lowest price at which even the four cylinder Chevrolet was ever sold.

"This is made possible, Knudson explained, because 1929 was Chevrolet's greatest year, with an output of 1,350,000 sixes. Economies of precision manufacturing plus savings effected by quantity purchase of raw materials brought about lowered production costs, which, consistent with the Chevrolet policy, are now being passed on to the consuming public."

Connell and Shumate, Twenty-third street and Barrett avenue, are Richmond dealers for the Chevrolet six.

Redwood Highway To Be Surveyed

Authority has been granted to State Highway Engineer C. H. Purcell to make a standard survey of the suggested rerouting of the Redwood highway between Cloverdale and Hopland, reports the National Automobile club. This new road would follow the Russian river and would result in the saving of mileage, curves and grades.

50 horsepower six cylinder engine

Not until you drive the new Chevrolet Six can you appreciate what a wonderful improvement has been made in its famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. With its capacity increased to 50 horsepower, it has great reserve energy for sweeping up the steepest hills—for swift acceleration —and for sustained high speeds. Its power flows evenly and smoothly. And it is extremely flexible in traffic. In fact—it does everything you could possibly want a motor to do. Yet it is remarkably economical in its use of gasoline and oil. Come in today for a demonstration.

ROGERS WINS IN ROLE OF LOVER

"America's boy friend" has a new sweetheart and a mighty sweet one too in "Half Way to Heaven," which opens today at the Fox-California theater for two days showing. Charles (Buddy) Rogers as fine and lovable a screen personality as he is has to share honors with lovely Jean Arthur. She's a honey. And the story is a honey, too. In fact the whole entertainment is one that action, romance, comedy order which makes one of the most enjoyable evenings possible. You'll like it. Everybody, generally speaking, liked it last night.

Buddy breaks into carnival life in "Half Way to Heaven" and does some dangerous stunts on the flying trapeze which will keep your heart in your mouth for several minutes. It is a new and daring role and Buddy certainly looks convincing in the part. Physique! That boy has it. After thrilling you with his daring, Buddy stands up to Paul Lukas and in a fist fight which looks realistic enough for anybody, he sends the villain packing and wins the girl.

"Half Way to Heaven" is a new type of story for Buddy but he fits it as well as he did "Close Harmony" and "Illusion." Of course it's all talking and the "boy friend" has a few choice things to tell the girl friends who visit him today.

A Fox talking news and Collegians are also on the program.

RESCUE PARTY FEARED LOST

ELY CITY, Idaho, Jan. 25.—UP—The fate of the brave men and dogs who pushed into the Green mountains Friday to attempt to reach Fred Burke, who lay dangerously ill of blood poisoning at the Collier King mine, remained unknown today.

No anxiety was felt, however, as the only means there would be of hearing from the party would have been the chance that a prospector or trapper coming there might have met them on the trail.

Behind ten sterling big-boned Irish setters driven by Sumner Stonebreaker and guided by Les Pettinone, Dr. J. P. Weber of Grangeville, started the last 18 mile leg of his errand of mercy Friday morning. It was believed that the party arrived at the mine last night and that in the event Burke was still alive, would remain there at least until Monday.

RESTRICTION OF FILIPINOS LOOMS

and favorably known organization, conducted a survey into the problem of Filipino immigration and the result of the findings of a special committee was a recommendation that "some sort of control is necessary to limit the number and kind of persons admitted to the United States from the Philippine Islands."

It is estimated by the Commonwealth club that 60,000 Filipinos are in the United States, exclusive of Hawaii, Alaska and the Philippines. Most of them are on the Pacific coast. The Pacific coast increase in Filipino population last year is estimated at 11,000.

The riots in California, were more serious than half a dozen similar affairs within the last year although the others did not attract so much attention because of good fortune there were no deaths.

Resentment because a Filipino club at Watsonville employed white girls as entertainers is supposed to have started the riot there but that is considered an excuse rather than the true reason for the disturbance.

"Filipinos work cheaper than we do," one white labor leader told the United Press, and that is generally conceded to be the true source of the trouble.

Because the Philippine Islands belong to the United States, it has been argued that restriction of immigration is impossible until the status of the islands in relation to the United States is changed. The Commonwealth club, however, declines attorneys advice that Congress has the power to restrict such immigration.

Will J. French, state industrial commissioner, told the United Press that his department is making a survey of the Filipino labor problem. He refused to predict the stand of his department in event the restriction of Filipino immigration becomes an issue, but intimated that the matter is a serious one.

TALKIE DEBUT HERE FOR GLORIA

More than any motion picture heretofore made by Gloria Swanson, her latest production, "The Trespasser," written and directed by Edmund Goulding, is anticipated by the cinema fans.

"The Trespasser," which comes to the Fox-California theater next Tuesday, is a sensational drama of modern life with the upper social strata of Chicago as its setting.

The production is particularly noteworthy because it marks Miss Swanson's audible picture debut. In addition to speaking dialogue throughout the picture she sings two songs, one a ballad style melody "Love" written for her by Goulding and the other a standard work of wide popularity.

"The Trespasser" also marks Miss Swanson's return to fine clothes on the screen, the character she portrays being a woman of fashion of the hour. All of her clothes, even to the jewelry and other costume accessories, were designed particularly for her and they forecast the mode months in advance.

And in addition, the star's role is one of tremendous emotional latitude, equaling and perhaps surpassing in dramatic possibilities the outstanding screen portrayals of her career to date.

Miss Swanson selected Goulding's story "The Trespasser" only after long and careful consideration and it is regarded as an ideal speaking vehicle. Before beginning production she surrounded herself with players of established reputation. The leading man is Robert Ames, who has appeared in a long list of Broadway stage productions and has several strong screen portrayals to his credit. Others are Purnell Pratt, Henry B. Walthall, Wally Albright, who is regarded as one of the most promising child actors in Hollywood; William Holden, Blanche Frederici, Kay Hammond, Mary Forbes and Marcella Corday.

And in addition, the star's role is one of tremendous emotional latitude, equaling and perhaps surpassing in dramatic possibilities the outstanding screen portrayals of her career to date.

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

2948 Morgan Ave. Oakland, Cal. Nov. 19, 1929.

THE FONG WAN HERB CO.

Dear Mr. Fong—

I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the relief and results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall-Bladder and Stomach trouble with Success. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and bitter, was returned to the mouth. This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.

By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my stomach. My digestion is good. The old feeling of lassitude has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you. Wishing you unbounded success and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am,

Very cordially,
CYRIL MAW.

"GENERAL CRACK"
BY GEORGE PREEDY

Copyright 1928 by Dodd Mead & Co., Inc.
The Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring John Barrymore, is based on this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Princess Eleanora, first engaged to King Leopold, Elector of Bavaria, has become the wife of General Crack, soldier of fortune. She is the prize Leopold has reluctantly paid, for reasons of state, so that General Crack will fight on his side against the Allies, and make him Emperor. Crack, settling out on his campaign, has entrusted Eleanora to a stranger to him, to the old butcher of Schönbuchel, General Crack leads the army to victory, and lays his plans at Brussels for the coronation of Leopold.

Christian with the Marshal, Lise and several other French and Austrian officers, was in a large opposite to, but lower than that of the Emperor.

Count Hensdorff had not wished the Countess Carola to share these imperial honors, but Leopold had wilfully insisted, as he had again begun to find a certain consolation in the languishing charms of this black-eyed lady. She at least wholeheartedly admired him—or pretended to do so.

The musicians took their places, and there was tuning of violins and delicate instruments. Hensdorff suddenly remembered something that he had wished to say to Leopold.

Maria Luisa was captivated!

When the curtain went down on the first act, Maria Luisa suggested to her brother that Christian should be sent for; and this time, Leopold did not or could not demur. He spoke to Hensdorff, and Hensdorff spoke to an officer, and an officer to a page; and within a moment or two the victor of St. Omar was in the Imperial Box, towards which all eyes were now directed in a manner in which they had not been directed when it was occupied only by the Emperor and his sister.

Maria Luisa stirred, and motioned to the chair beside her. She appeared different from the tired woman who had greeted him in the corridor of the palace at Berlin. Her high, curled, powdered hair was crowned by a circlet of white, waxy, seamless, hot-house flowers. The bodice on which sparkled the memorably old jewels of the House of Austria was of rich blue velvet; her train was lined with ermine. She was finer elegant, highly bred, fragrant, a second Christian, kissing her finger tips, amused himself by the reflection that he might on this occasion have sat beside this woman as her husband—an Imperial Archduke.

When the coquettish curtain went up again, Leopold drew back into the recesses of the box, abandoning the Imperial chair, to which none of the whispered inducements of Hensdorff could persuade him to return. The two women had gracefully detained Christian in the Imperial Box; very luxurious, very extravagant, strong and handsome, adorned by his obvious and showy successes, he stood between them; and Leopold noted that they both gazed at him.

Maria Luisa, with her majestic majesty, the Countess Carola with her languishing yet so all of excitement and promise. Both of them had forgotten Leopold and Hensdorff and the other ladies behind; with word and gesture and look, the praised, flattered, and paid homage to General Crack. Nothing could have been more odious or ridiculous to the Emperor.

Immediately the performance was over, Leopold left the box and retired into the antechamber behind it, where wines and sweetmeats were served on tables of antique yellow marble covered with lace. He drew the curtains impulsively across the entrance to the box, but he could still hear the ovations coming from the theatre—the applause, once, twice and thrice uttered, given to Christian, the immense shouts of his name, of his praises—how easy to turn the heads of women and fools!

Leopold poured out wine from the first bottle in his hand—poured it out so violently that it splashed it across the marble table, and drank, and sat down heavily with his head in his hands. Hensdorff had followed him, and looked at him with a certain anxiety. He could understand that Leopold was torn with jealousy, and sympathized with the difficult position of the unhappy young man.

At last the ladies left the box, and came into the antechamber. Maria Luisa was elegantly leaning on the arm of Christian, and looking up into his face with the smile of the least change of his expression or the smallest word he deigned to speak; her small, frail person quivered with admiration.

Leopold groaned within his heart, he felt sick.

"How can she?" he thought to himself; "how can she? With that man, and after what has happened?"

But if his sister's behaviour gave him this poignant pang, he was even more sorely moved to see the admiration of the Countess Carola diverted from himself to this victorious hero of a theatrical hour. That capricious beauty hardly glanced at Leopold, though he was arrayed in all his Imperial splendor; exercising all those arts which Leopold had once found so delicious, she competed with Maria Luisa for the graces of Christian, who appeared by no means indifferent. Leopold was unequal to this situation, as he had been unequal to every situation in which he had yet found himself. He rose heavily, and led the way from the theatre.

Christian shared his coach; green leather, lavishly painted, elaborately adorned, swinging lightly on the leathers, drawn by eight red-apparled white horses. In the dark streets, the gathered people shouted for Christian, as in the bright theatre those others had shouted.

WANT ADS GET RESULTS IN THE RECORD-HERALD

BABE WINS IN DOG POISON FIGHT

his arm about its neck. That was what the dog wanted. The little animal licked the baby's hands. That was what the baby wanted. The child, chuckling gleefully, put his tiny, chubby hands into the dog's mouth—then, as babies do—into his own.

It lasted only a few minutes. The little dog's hind legs began to spread backward. Its back stiffened. It trembled, gasped, and died.

Child Poisoned

The baby cried. The pains had attacked his stomach. Then he screamed and began to tremble. He was rushed to the hospital. "Poison," the doctors said. "But what poison?"

The baby's mother told of the dog. A hasty autopsy was performed and the tell-tale piece of meat, thrown out deliberately by some human fiend to whom the death of a little dog was a joy, was found.

Tonight the solemn doctors who had worked so hard believed their fight was won; believed that little Mark will live; but the little baby had gone through the wrack of strychnine poisoning and suffered the tortures of that painful, terrifying, horrible affliction. All because a little dog loved him and he loved a little dog, and some one hates all dogs.

Parmagini and Levin were both sentenced to serve 17 years in federal prison and pay fines of $24,000 each by Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure.

Cancer Victims Plead For Aid From Doctors

aid that they want to give to cure suffering multitudes but at present they are unable to do so. More than a thousand telegrams have been received, one from far away Mexico City, asking to be cured, begging the San Francisco doctors to "save me."

A multimillionaire in the south offered "any money" and airplane if they would fly to his aid.

Hands Foreed
"It's pitiful," Dr. Coffey told the United Press today. "What can we do? We weren't ready to report. Our hand was forced. As it is we are just experimenters."

The particular pitiful part of it is that every cure they might effect would be a definite setback to the final scientific solution of their problem.

The only way they can scientifically establish that cancerous tissue has been killed by their "potent extract" is by autopsy after death.

No Tests
If the patient is cured there is no autopsy, no verification of the point which must be verified many times before it can be accepted as true.

Thus their desire as physicians to cure is in constant battle with need as scientists to know.

DRAMA, COMEDY IN FLOODED SECTION

a blight through the stricken Wash valley today, while flood waters ebbed slowly. Health conditions were reported much worse in Decker township and it was announced that an army hospital would be established at Orville. All vacant houses at Princeton were taken over by the Red Cross to shelter the sick and homeless.

Haggard With Hunger
Among those brought into Princeton from the flood zone were a mother, father and five children, haggard from hunger and with faces pinched and white from the cold. They were found huddled in a house in the Gordon Hills neighborhood and rescued on sleds drawn by relief workers.

The only hope for relief of the hundreds of persons marooned by ice floes and high water in Posey county was from the air. Three planes assigned here from the base at Evansville were rushing aid to them as fast as whirling propellers would take them.

It was expected four or five days would be required to get supplies to all those needing them.

Doctor Hero
Dr. G. M. Small of Decker, was added to the roll of flood heroes today. He started on foot to cross 12 miles of ice plains to Clayport Hill, where a woman was seriously ill with pneumonia. Part of the dangerous journey, between holes in the ice and through treacherous tangles of debris, was expected to be made after dark.

Four persons were reported seriously ill in a houseboat on the Washab and relief parties from there were attempting to reach the boat.

Thirty-seven persons were isolated in the home of George Greener, south of here, according to reports. Forty-five men, many of whom had walked across 10 or 12 miles of ice, applied at the relief station in that region.

STRANGE FAMILY IN FLOOD AREA
HALLETON, Ind., Jan. 25.—(UP)—John Dagenheart put his cow at a high platform with plenty of feed and water when the flood from the White river forced him from his home.

The next day he found the cow, a cat, a rabbit and a squirrel living peacefully on the platform. Two days later he returned and found the cat and squirrel playing together on the cow's back, and the rabbit keeping lone vigil at one corner.

The next day there were but two refugees on the platform, the cow and the cat. The squirrel was up a nearby tree. Bits of fur indicated the cat had eliminated the rabbit.

Pinole Protests
Actions Of State Traffic Officers

MARTINEZ, Jan. 25.—Pinole city trustees have lodged a protest with District Attorney A. B. Tinning against state traffic officers descending on the community every Sunday night, stationing themselves on Main street and stopping motorists driving cars with faulty lights.

Not that Pinole is not law-abiding. Oh no, on the contrary the trustees declare that they are just as desirous as any others for law enforcement, but Pinole, they say, doesn't like to have its streets cluttered up with automobiles and receive credit or abuse for something the city is not concerned with.

Pinole trustees, asserting that complaints have become numerous, wants the traffic officers to move to another locality.

When communicated to Traffic Captain George Belon the complaint, however failed to register.

"There is no desire to cause embarrassment to Pinole but the law must be enforced," Belon said. "We have strict instructions to conduct light campaigns. Pinole offers the best location for officers and the motoring public."

Its main street is wide and it puts officers where they may be seen with less likelihood of accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—UP—Morton Chapman had a good record both as a citizen and as a war veteran and would have been shown leniency by U. S. Judge Harold Louderback, but he chose "newsies" as his victims and today was sent to jail for one year.

He was found guilty of passing counterfeit coins on newsboys by Judge Louderback.

women alike into a large bedroom where they "dumped" them on the floor in a pile like sacks of flour.

Robbers Leave
With a final admonishment not to try to tell police the bandits ripped the telephones from the wall, cut the wires and walked calmly out the front door.

After about 20 minutes one of the men wormed loose from his gag and hands and released the others. Then Mrs. Campbell-Smith aroused a neighbor and police were notified.

Riot cars and flying squadrons were dispatched and fingerprint experts to the house.

Women Hysterical
The women of the party, hysterical from the muttered threats of the bandits, and fear of their actions after they had securely tied the holdup men.

One young woman, however, told police that both were well dressed, appeared fairly well mannered and looked the part of life.

One of them she said "seemed to like women." He acted once as if he were going to kiss me. She refused to give her name and fled the scene as quickly as possible.

Inside Job
Mrs. Smith told police all she could of the holdup and after being calmed down managed to describe the men in detail.

Possibly "inside job," some household employee being involved, was scouted by police today.

Those robbed whose names police obtained were: Mrs. Smith, Miss Alice Campbell of Oakland, Mrs. Edna L. Bernhard, Mrs. Harry Kats, Miss Virginia M. Hall of Corte Madera, Mrs. John Landau, Edward Randall, Jr. and Sol Dorman.

Miss Campbell was forced to give up a diamond and pearl brooch, valued at more than $15,000.

SPORTS

3 GAMES WILL DECIDE CITY CAGE TITLE

If Charlie Cecil, manager of Mammy's Place doesn't like the idea of having three games played to decide the championship of the city cage league, that is just plain hard luck—for Charlie.

Yesterday W. L. "Doc" Seawright, league director declared that the three games will be played. So that is that.

Charlie recently registered a wall that he didn't know that three games would be played for the championship and that he wasn't taken into conference when this was decided.

Mammy's Place won the B division championship in the city league this year, going through the season without a defeat. Garfinkle's five won the championship of the A division.

These two teams will meet Thursday night in the first of the championship series. The second game will be played on the following Monday and the third and deciding game if any, will be played on the following Thursday.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Rid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

S. F. RED GROUP UNDER PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—UP—Investigation of the Young Communist League with headquarters in San Francisco was started today with U. S. District Attorney George J. Hatfield receiving complaints of "revolutionary" literature being circulated.

The circulars being distributed on the streets of San Francisco as well as in Salinas and Watsonville, where the recent white-Filipino race riots occurred, attack what is termed "American Imperialism."

The circulars distributed in San Francisco some of them prior to the Lenin Memorial meeting held Jan. 21, at California hall, label the Hoover-McDonald conference and the London Five Power party as war preparations, not peace conferences.

The circulars also call upon workers to "smash the attack of American imperialism on the Soviet Union" and to "fight against Hoover's capitalist program."

The circulars bear the marks of poor grammar and poorer writing and ramble on at great length with threats and promises, but never seeming to wind up in an intelligent declaration or statement.

Steady Now! Game May Be Seen Today

Rejoice, oh ye fans of Richmond!

For at last, out of four weeks of grey skies and muddy diamonds, has emerged the glorious sun, and with it comes the chance of witnessing the oft-postponed battle between the Thomas Motor nine and the San Pablo athletes. And with this enthusiasm among the local followers of the great sport of baseball.

It is only once or twice in a season that such a significant contest is offered to Richmond fans and today's game is expected to be a classic in the history of baseball in the Oakland Winter league. Traditional rivals, the athletes and tied for the lead in the winter league, the San Pablo and the Studebakers are both promising something pretty hot on the order of baseball. Moreover, additional significance has been added to today's clash by a "winner take all" agreement drawn up between the two participating teams.

The pick of the local crop of diamond stars will see action today according to announcements by the managers of the two squads. Ball will start in the box for the San Pablo, while Rogers will be on the receiving end for San Pablo. Hurst will do the chucking for the Motors, and Borreani will complete the starting battery for the Thomas Motors.

With a dry lot to play on, the local athletes ought to be able to show their best brand of baseball today. The fans are also expected to make the biggest showing of the year, because for the first Sunday in almost a month, the First street bleachers are in a state of complete dryness.

So timber up the tonsils, fans, take a nerve tonic before leaving the house today, and let's go!
